The financial services environment

Today's financial services environment offers a greater degree of opportunity than at any other time in history. Along with this opportunity, however, comes significant planning and challenges.

Our mission is to provide strategies.

ADA group differentiates itself through its comprehensive advice, offering holistic and integrated solutions. Through our highly consultative approach we blend together a range of financial services based on your needs and objectives over your lifetime.

This includes advice pertaining to investments, taxation structures, cash flow and debt management, estate planning, risk management, superannuation, gearing and meeting lifestyle goals and objectives.

ADA Group is not owned or controlled by a funds management firm, investment house or banking institution. As a result, the advice that is given is only for the benefit of you.

Our approach to financial advice makes the process of identifying and achieving your goals simple and clear. We then work with you to develop strategies to support these goals.

Our aim is that you fully understand:

- + What strategies we are recommending and why
- + How these strategies will assist you in achieving your goals
- + Our ongoing service to you

The advice we offer is tailored to each client, therefore the strategies that we recommend to you will be uniquely suited to your individual needs.

We are able to provide specialist advice in the following areas:

- + Superannuation
- + Income protection, Life, TPD, Trauma & business expense insurance
- + Fixed interest, managed funds & cash investments
- + Direct share portfolios
- + Tax effective investments.

Why use a Financial Advisor?

Financial Planning Association (FPA) research shows that three quarters of Australians have experienced financial difficulty at some point. While household wealth is rising, so too is our cost of living and credit card debt, with many Australians struggling to afford the home they want.

Now, more than ever, Australians need good financial advice. Good financial advice helps you make the most of what you have, while creating a comfortable future for you and your family.

Good financial advice is also about providing you with the information you need to move in the direction you want to head. That's why seeking a professional financial advisor can make a substantial difference to your financial future. A financial advisor can help you make financial decisions, giving you peace of mind.
